THE GRASS IS ALWAYS GREENER ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE FENCE

Hi everyone, my name's Dariia Dziuba and today we're going to speak about the grass, which is always greener on the other side of the fence. What does this idiom mean? Watch this video lesson to find out!

I'd been saving up for my new 50-inch widescreen TV for ages. And when I finally bought it what do you think I found out? I found out that my neighbour had bought a 50-inch 3D TV! I couldn't believe it! Now, he can enjoy films better watching them in 3D!

If you're like me and you think that other people live a better life, have a better job and on the whole their situation is much better than yours, then you believe that 'the grass is always greener on the other side of the fence'. You can also say 'the grass is always greener'. It's enough for people to understand what you mean.

So, just let me repeat this expression one more time: "The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence". By using this idiom you show that you believe that life is better somewhere else.

Do you believe that the grass is always greener on the other side of the fence? I do!
